The Complete Guide To Men's Accessories

Dec 19, 2019

If you have ever had a question about anything related to men's accessories, you are in the right place. We created this blog post to give insight and open up the world of accessories for men.

In the past, accessories were a luxury that not all men could afford. While those days aren't far too behind, accessories are now more affordable and available to everyone. You can still find an expensive watch or a solid gold bracelet with diamonds, but you can also find more affordable solutions such as a watch without any fancy movements or a natural stone bracelet with gold plating. In fact, the trend today is not to have the most expensive clothing or the biggest diamond on your ring. On the contrary, people try to separate themselves from the crowd by being unique and wearing brands that many haven't heard of. It is considered trendy to pay as little as possible for something that is of excellent quality, instead of paying astronomical amounts of something that is of perfect quality. See the difference?

Too often we think to ourselves, wondering if we should wear a tie or not, or whether we should wear a watch or not? How much should my accessories cost? Gentlemen, the days of "I'm not sure" are over. To begin with, we are going to clarify what are the different categories of men's accessories.

WHAT ARE MEN'S ACCESSORIES?

There are a lot of different clothing accessories for men. Everything added to your common shirt and pants combo can be considered an accessory.

So, is a jacket an accessory? -No. Technically it is an accessory as it adds to your shirt and pants, but generally, it is not considered to be an accessory. Accessories tend to be smallish things you add to your outfit and make it more unique. A jacket is a large piece of clothing and it is worn similarly to a hoodie with a pull-up zipper, which makes it clothing rather than an accessory.

If a jacket is not an accessory, what is? I'm glad you asked. Men's accessories are small add-ons to the outfit. Accessories can be used to personalize your style and make it reflect your personal feeling or a certain type of attitude. They can bring warmth to your look, and they can bring up that cool guy in you that you have always wanted to be. On the flipside, accessories can also break the whole outfit when worn wrong. Although this rarely happens, you should know it can happen.

Now that you know the general information about men's accessories, we can hop in to see what is acknowledged as an accessory for men today. Without further ado, let us introduce the full list of men's accessories. Click here to skip the list and go straight to must-have men's accessories.

THE MEN'S ACCESSORIES LIST:

JEWELRY

Jewelry is personal ornaments that usually contain a precious metal or a precious stone to further emphasize the jewel's importance to the person. Jewelry is commonly used to show social status and/or personality via different types, styles, and shapes. Jewelry consists of three different subcategories; bracelets, rings, and necklaces. All of which can be worn simultaneously or separately.

BRACELETS

One of today's most wanted men's accessories is bracelets. Men's bracelets are an increasingly sexy accessory for any casual or formal style. They can improve your style significantly, or bring the much needed slight enhancement and persona to complete your outfit. They can be worn separately or by combining a few to create a classy set.

Bracelets exist with a large variety to choose from, beaded bracelets being one of the most common styles alongside solid metal and chain bracelets. As there is so much diversity among bracelet styles, bracelets are an extremely easy way for men to showcase their personalities. You can see our large variety of men's bracelets or you can see the article about Best Men's Bracelets Today to learn more about bracelets.

RINGS

Not all men are confident enough to wear rings. The opinion of too many men is that the only ring a man should wear is a wedding band. Luckily things have changed lately and men have started to realize the potential of rings as fashion accessories. Men's fashion rings will be a more common sight in the future. As more men start wearing them, the more others get the courage to follow.

NECKLACES

Necklaces are very common today. Usually, men receive necklaces as gifts for their birthday or as a token of love from their significant others.

One of the most used combinations is a gold or silver necklace with a cross-shaped pendant hanging from it. Also, a solid chain necklace without a pendant is widely popular among men today.

WATCHES

Watches are a well-known friend to many men. The task of a watch is to show the current time as precisely as possible, for as long as possible. Other visual elements are important as well, such as how clearly one can see the time from the watch. Functionality wise, how well the watch sits on your hand is a very important aspect, too.

When looking for a watch, a lot of men overlook the common tasks of a watch mentioned above and search for something more visually pleasing. This often results in a nice looking watch lacking the functions it should have as a standard in the first place. To see a great selection of watches, all unmatched in their price range, check out our collection of watches.

AUTOMATIC WATCH

Automatic watches operate without a battery. The mechanism often uses hand motion to start and keep the watch going. Automatic watches require motion daily or semi-daily to keep it running. Often the mechanics of an automatic watch are combined with the ones of a mechanical watch. This enables a manual start and reload of the watch without using any hand motion.

MECHANICAL WATCH

Mechanical watches are very similar to automatic watches, as they don't need a supermarket battery to run. Mechanical watches need to be started manually by winding the spring. The watch will keep going until the winding is no longer effective and the watch stops. Unlike automatic watches, mechanical types do not use a hand motion to start and reload the spring.

ANALOG WATCH

Analog watches are commonly known as the cheapest type of watches out there. The watch operates with a standard supermarket battery. Analog watches require very little maintenance excluding the battery replacement every once in a while. Analog watches often are durable and use fairly accurate movements, making them a favorite for many men.

DIGITAL WATCH

Digital watches use standard supermarket batteries or a rechargeable battery. The watch is displayed from a modern digital screen instead of a traditional display. Digital watches include smartwatches, that are globally spread by large mobile phone and mobile operating system brands.

SUNGLASSES

Sunglasses are a joy for the eye during bright summer days. Men's sunglasses are one of the most common accessories seen during summertime. Not all people enjoy wearing sunglasses, but when you've found a pair that looks perfect on you the feeling is incredible. If you are wondering what sunglasses would fit you the best, check out our article here.

ROUND SUNGLASSES

Round sunglasses are a major hit in the current fashion industry. As an original trailblazer in the development of sunglasses, the round shape has always been a pleasure to the eye. They provide an impeccable photogenic look, regardless of the shape of your face.

VINTAGE SUNGLASSES

Vintage sunglasses have been a thing for a while already. With the rise of social media and Gen Z taking over Instagram and Twitter, vintage sunglasses are only going to gain popularity. On Instagram, the hashtag #vintagesunglasses gives +129,000 hits, giving further evidence about the popularity of vintage glasses today.

BEACH SUNGLASSES

Traveling is an increasingly popular treat that a lot of people enjoy. A lot of the most visited destinations have hot, sunny weather along with clear water and beautiful beaches. Beach sunglasses are one of the most popular items inside a traveler's backpack when visiting places like these. In fact, over 80% of people who enjoy warm holidays, own a pair of beach sunglasses.

CLASSIC SUNGLASSES

Classic sunglasses can be found in all price ranges. The Wayfarer look is considered to be the most affordable of the three styles, followed by the pilot and clubmaster sunglasses, in that order. If you are looking for a nice all-around pair of sunglasses that will suit most events, classic sunglasses are the way to go.

WALLETS

Wallets are, without a doubt, a useful accessory for anyone who carries around currency in any form. However, wallets are not as useful as what they were a decade ago as most of the available money is in electronic form. Credit and debit cards along with personal ID cards are the most common combination of items in any wallet.

Check out our post for the Best Wallets For Men.

HATS

If you step out of your comfort zone and try rocking a hat you are going to be dazzled and utterly amazed at the response you get. Not a lot of people have the confidence to pull off a hat. If you do, which you should, that means you rock! Whether you’re wearing a classic baseball cap or a dapper fedora, hats are the perfect topper for any outfit.

Hats tend to be more of a statement piece than a subtle accessory. Maybe you want to instantly add a whole dose of personality to any outfit? You wear a hat to keep your head warm on a chilly day? Or maybe you're wearing a hat to cover a bad hair day? Either way, hats are a great way to take your style game from 0 to 100.

Check out our men's hat collection.

BELTS

Belts are an everyday accessory for many working men. Belts are designed to keep your pants up, but, especially in rap culture, are commonly used as a fashion statement. See our quality selection of men's belts.

SUIT ACCESSORIES

What are suit accessories? They are additions to the common suit. The styling of a standard suit is often made into reality with suit accessories. See our classy selection of suit accessories.

TIES & BOW TIES

Ties and bow ties make the suit and your look sleek and dapper. Ties are often used at formal events, as bow ties are usually worn in smart casual and evening events.

TIE CLIPS & CUFFLINKS

Tie clips and cufflinks are something that is not often thought of as mandatory to wear in either formal or casual events. They simply provide that something extra for the perfect gentleman look.

POCKET SQUARES

Pocket squares are the finishing touch to your suit. Against common belief, pocket squares aren't actually for men, but for men to carry. In addition to being a fashion statement, pocket squares have a deeper meaning. If the woman you are with is sad, pocket squares are offered to the lady to dry her tears.

See our fancy selection of pocket squares.

HOW TO WEAR MEN'S ACCESSORIES?

This is a very common question, and we are here to answer it.

There are 3 simple steps to keep in mind when wearing accessories.

1. Keep it simple

Make sure you aren't overdoing it with the accessories. If you've decided to wear two or three rings on every finger, a hat, a watch and four bracelets on both hands, you might be in over your head.

2. Stick to three main colors

Having three main colors makes it easy to look clean. Four or more colors are often hard to carry.

3. Fit the accessories with your clothes

Well, this one should be pretty obvious, but if you are wearing a belt with sweatpants or a tie with a t-shirt, it won't fit. Use common sense and a mirror to see what fits the best with your current outfit.

If you think you are doing everything right and still aren't receiving the outcome you'd wish, read our article on how to be a gentleman.

WHO SHOULD WEAR MEN'S ACCESSORIES?

Men's accessories are for every man around the world. Most of the accessories, like hats and belts can be worn by a woman as well, but, as a common rule, men's accessories should be worn by men.

If you are attending a formal event, you definitely should have some accessories on you. If, on the other hand, your event is more of a casual type, accessories are not that necessary. So, who should wear men's accessories?

- Men above the age of 15

- People (men in general) who are going to a formal event
- You

Believe us, if you are reading this blog post, you should wear men's accessories. Make sure to read until the end to find out where you can find the best deals on men's accessories today.

WEARING MEN'S ACCESSORIES DAILY

A lot of men want to look stylish and classy daily and there is nothing wrong with that. Wearing accessories with casual and formal outfits is perfectly okay. What a lot of people don't realize is that accessories make the style unique and personal. If you can wear them right, they can make the difference between "hmm, he looks pretty good." and "damn he looks good!".

Accessories are designed to bring out your persona to the world. It is important to select the style and type of your accessories before starting to wear them daily. If you are wondering how to select the suitable ones for you, consider reading through our article on 5 accessories that make men more attractive.

Wearing accessories daily can bring multiple benefits into your life, including:

- Improved self-confidence

Accessories make you look more like you in a good way. Looking in the mirror has never been so rewarding.

- Your personality is understood better by people around you

The accessories people wear tell something about their personality. People can tell much more about you with a quick glance than what they can of people who don't wear accessories.

- Further success in business

You make yourself more memorable to others, and this can lead to a lot of positive discussions and opportunities.

- Improved quality of life

Knowing you always look on top of your game feels amazing. It gives you an extra boost in life in terms of positivity and optimistic thinking

- Hearing compliments more often

Wearing men's accessories daily is a nice topic to discuss and people often love to give their two cents about outfits and dressing up. It's always nice to hear compliments.
